

Instruction services and product optimisation

Cooking instructions - right first time

We offer instruction services covering a wide range of domestic appliances including:

- Ovens (gas, fan-assisted and conventional electric)
- Grills
- Hobs
- Microwaves

We can work to specific retailer requirements in addition to a standard set of our own well-practiced methods and protocols - we have developed back of pack cooking instructions for many UK retailers. We can usually accommodate tight time scales at a very competitive price.

Future product quality optimisation service

Achieving a safe minimum thermal process can affect product quality. We are currently working with our packaging and sensory teams to develop a bespoke service to help with product development and to troubleshoot quality issues.
