

Instruction services and product optimisation

We have a range of facilities focused on instruction development, supported by experienced personnel

Campden BRI developed a supplementary guideline to BRC Issue 8 which requires the on pack cooking instructions to be fully validated and are able to offer a service which meets these requirements.

Cooking instructions - right first time

We offer instruction services (quality and safety) covering a wide range of domestic appliances including:

- ovens (gas, fan-assisted and conventional electric)
- grills
- hobs
- microwaves

We work to specific retailer requirements in addition to a standard set of our own well-practiced methods and protocols. We have developed back of pack cooking instructions for thousands of products.

Product optimisation service

We can optimise the cooking of your products, improving the product quality.

For example: tuning the packaging height to achieve shorter heating times as shown.
