Contents

- Modifying flavour: an introduction
- Flavouring substances: from chemistry and carriers to legislation
- Extraction of flavourings from natural sources
- From fermentation to white biotechnology: how microbial catalysts generate flavours
- New developments in yeast extracts for use as flavour enhancers
- Chiral chemistry and food flavourings
- Formulating low fat food: the challenge of retaining flavour quality
- New pungent and cooling compounds for use in foods
- Controlled release of flavour in food products
- Developments in sweeteners
- Enhancing umami taste in foods
- Bitter blockers in foods and pharmaceuticals
- Masking agents for use in foods
- Selecting the right flavourings for a food product